'Women happy,' says ERA foe

DUBLIN — A diminutive whirlwind from Texas has her sights set on knocking the props out from under the controversial Equal Rights Amendment.

Sandy McDade, a former airline stewardess who believes ardently in the time-honored roles of men and women as well as the family unit, spoke to a large and predominantly female audience Tuesday at Dublin High School.

Mrs. McDade came to the area from her home city of Dallas, Texas, where she has been working with the Committee to Restore Women's Rights, a group dedicated to repealing the Equal Rights Amendment.

A lovely auburn-tressed woman of perhaps 30, Mrs. McDade's visit was initiated by a Sacramento couple, former Texans, who are leading the anti-ERA cause in this state.

Mrs. McDade is in Sacramento this morning to speak to a workshop gathering aimed at organizing a state chapter of the Committee to Restore Women's Rights.

Her reception Tuesday was something less than sympathetic, starting with an apparent lack of preparation for Mrs. McDade's visit (dim lighting over the speaker's rostrum and a hastily-recruited student to introduce the speaker).

and a couple of representatives from the valley chapter of the National Organization of Women (NOW). As it turned out, the female student introducing Mrs. McDade later commented she was affliated with the chapter.

Following her presentation, audience members started to drift out when several spoke up and asked if there would be a question period. After what seemed like a couple of minutes, two Dublin vice principals came forward and agreed that persons present could ask questions. Mrs. McDade returned to the rostrum and the sparks began to fly.

Basis of Mrs. McDade's talk is that the "Equal Rights Amendment is just not necessary. There exist eight laws and orders and eight executive commissions that women can appeal to if they wish to take what they believe is a matter of discrimination or unequal treatment to court.

"I was discriminated against when I had to quit my airlines job when I got married," she stated initially in a soft southern drawl. Mrs. McDade, who is married to an airlines pilot, is the mother of three adopted children...with a fourth expected...and has had 14 foster children in her home.

Mrs. McDade claimed that Congresswoman Martha Griffiths and Sen. Birch Bayh are the chief supporters of ERA in Congress...and even they admit it (ERA) will not affect equal pay.

"It will not help women at all. It will truly crucify women on the cross of equality."

She characterized the "imposition" of the Equal Rights Amendment on the states as "the largest power grab the federal government has ever made into the area of state's rights. It will impose a constitutional yardstick on states and they'll be expected to measure up," Mrs. McDade claimed as occasional opposition mutterings could be heard throughout the audience.

She noted that Oklahoma has rejected the ERA three times and "we are working toward this goal in Texas.

Accompanied by her mother and the Sacramento couple, all sporting "Stop ERA" buttons, Mrs. McDade claimed that a poll recently showed seven out of ten women feel they are NOT discriminated against and 83 per cent said they didn't want to be the "family breadwinner."

She also claimed that 13 states are currently working to reject the amendment and she is hopeful of organizing a group in California that will rescind the amendment ratified a little more than two years ago.

Questions and commentaries from the audience, including several strident comments from one man, generally revolved around application of the 14th Amendment, whether the ERA would abridge states' rights and heterosexual and homosexual relationships.

When questioned by the girl who had originally introduced her as to why she was here (in Dublin) and not home taking care of her children, Mrs. McDade responded, "My husband is taking care of our children right now while I'm away. We share the responsibility of raising our children and we both love it. My husband is doing exactly what he wants to do. He's the final authority. I take care of the home."

She concluded by saying, to a by-now flustered and agitated number of pro-ERA audience members, that "you can't liberate yourself from responsibility."

Citizens threaten suit in curbside mail row

PLEASANTON — Several frustrated Pleasantonites, who are caught in the middle of a governmental dispute, told the city council Monday night they will file suit against the city if they are not allowed to install curbside mailboxes.

About 100 Pleasanton residents face the irritating situation of not being able to receive mail delivery because of a directive from the U.S. Postal Service which states all new subdivisions will only be served at curbside.

The city has an ordinance on the books prohibiting the installation of those curbside mailboxes and thus, the residents have been forced to travel to the post office for their mail for the past six months.

The city, which was prepared to go to court nine years ago to prevent the postal service from implementing what was then a brand new policy, now finds itself almost alone in its opposition to that nation-wide edict.

Because of extreme congressional and public pressure, the post office backed off in 1966. Now, however, the postal service — which has become a quasi-private agency that has been told to stay within its budget — claims rising costs have forced it to implement the nine-year-old directive.

Frank Rodgers, manager of Delivery and Collection for the Oakland Sectional Office of the postal service, attempted to explain the rationale behind the curbside and clusters mailboxes Monday night to a city council that was not easily convinced.

He claimed the curbside delivery will save the post office $14 a year per customer where lot frontages are greater than 75 feet and $7 a year where they are less than 75 feet.

Rodgers also explained neither the city nor the homeowner would be liable in cases where pedestrians or bicycles, etc., collided with the curbside boxes.

An alternative to the curbside mailboxes, Rodgers said, was "clusters" where the mailboxes of three or more homes would be together (similar to the concept of apartment mailboxes).

The postal service policy, which was implemented nationwide last July and which was further clarified in March, is not equitable, Rodgers admitted.

In some instances, one home will receive door delivery and a home next door (if it was built after July of last year) will not. "We have to draw the line somewhere," Rodgers said.

Councilman Roger McLain accused the postal service of "drawing the line" at the "people who don't have a powerful voice or a lobby" when the burden of increased costs should be placed on bulk rate mail firms.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig told Rodgers the problem the city faces is that with the design of many new streets and sidewalks, those curbside boxes will end up in the middle of the sidewalks. Even though Rodgers assured the officials the city would not be liable for damage claims, Scheidig said, "You can bet we will have claims filed against us."

Don Shulte, one of the 100 or so Pleasantonites who is caught in the middle, told Rodgers, "It looks like we are once again paying higher postal rates for less service."

Rodgers conceded the matter could be looked at "from that point of view."

Shulte also urged the council to "work for door-to-door delivery. We should not be asking for a choice among two or three bad alternatives but for door-to-door delivery. These alternatives (curbside and cluster) are not satisfactory to anyone but the postal service," he said.

Councilman Bob Philcox asked if citizens or the city were willing to pay the additional $14 a year to subsidize the system, would customers be able to receive door delivery.

Rodgers said he didn't know but doubted it.

Mike Taylor, another affected resident, told the council he intended to file suit if the matter were not resolved. "We are faced with watching two government agencies fighting each other," he said. "I want to avoid litigation but I also want my mail delivered."

The council did not resolve the matter Monday but will consider an amendment to its ordinance, which would allow curbside boxes, at this Monday's council meeting.

Apperson wins round in push for Sunol ridge guest ranch

OAKLAND — The Regional Water Quality Control Board reaffirmed wastewater standards for Bill Apperson's proposed guest ranch Tuesday following a unique hearing in which they limited their discussion to matters not related to water quality.

That action removes one major stumbling block from Apperson's plans to build the Diamond A Guest Ranch, although he still faces a court test.

The Sierra Club has filed suit against Apperson and Alameda County in an attempt to block the project for environmental reasons. The next hearing in that case is scheduled for July 18.

The unusual hearing held Tuesday by the RWQCB, in which the board charged with protecting water quality discussed only those impacts of the project which had nothing to do with water quality, came about because of a directive from the board's parent body, the State Water Resources Control Board.

That body ordered the regional board to review the wastewater requirements, which were established for Apperson's guest ranch last May, after two Sierra Club members had petitioned for such a review.

The Sierra Club members claimed the regional board had not considered all of the environmental impacts of the proposed 1,300-acre guest ranch on Apperson Ridge.

Consequently, board members were supplied with copies of the Environmental Impact Report prepared by Alameda County on the project and, by a 6-1 vote, determined that potential adverse impacts were not sufficiently compelling for them to overrule their earlier action.

Since the matter of wastewater standards had already been thoroughly discussed last May, the hearing on Tuesday was limited to environmental impacts other than those associated with water quality.

Margaret Tracy, representing Preserve Area Ridge-lands Committee (PARC), was the sole opposition speaker to the project. She said PARC's major concern was the impact the construction of the guest ranch would have on an area that is earmarked for open space.

She also expressed concern that the guest ranch would have an adverse impact on a proposed ridge-lands preserve that may be located "close to" the project.

Murray teachers will continue bargaining with MESD officials

Murray Elementary School District teachers voted yesterday to "escalate their campaign for higher wages next year and also set a new deadline of June 2 for completion of negotiations with the district.

The action came at a mass meeting of the Murray Teachers' Association (MTA), which represents over 190 of the 227 teachers in the district. Only 99 teachers showed up at Shannon Community Center and only 93 cast ballots. Forty-eight MTA members voted to continue working for a 12 per cent wage increase and the retention of present programs.

Only 14 members voted to accept the present district offer of a 4 per cent raise while 31 voted to sanction a strike at any time the Executive Board felt it necessary.

Escalation of the present tactics will most likely include a letter-writing and postcard campaign to parents in the district, similar to the one teachers ran in support of the March 4 revenue limit increase election.

The success of that election is one reason that teachers are so upset. The measure was passed, the MTA maintains, primarily due to the support of the teachers and the promises they made that if the measure passed, programs and personnel would not be cut.

However, teachers claim that despite the success of the proposal, programs and personnel are still being cut back.

Teachers were also talking about picketing the district office and making another show of force at the June 2 Board of Trustees meeting.

Another possibility is a one-day walkout of teachers to show the board the reality of the strike possibility.

The teachers also called another mass meeting on June 3, the day after the final board meeting of the school year, if no agreement is reached. Last year at a similar meeting, the teachers authorized a strike that was averted only 48 hours before school was to open.

One CEC member put the mood of the teachers like this — "We're getting backed into a corner. It's either surrender or fight."

VCSD OKs rate hike on sewer

DUBLIN — A truncated Valley Community Services District Board of Directors voted 2 to 1 last night to approve a $2 increase in monthly sewer charges.

Two board members—Ann Jolley and Chuck Ladner—were on vacation and so a bare quorum approved the increase and the 1975-1976 budget.

Two VCSD residents ignored the Warrior game and spoke at the public hearing. Carl McCueley of San Ramon and Wayne Mastin of Dublin both spoke against the increase.

Directors Ron Hyde and Lila Euler voted for the motion while Richard Fahy voted against what he termed "an extraordinary increase."

Hyde voted for the measure on the grounds "a $98,000 deficit scares the hell out of me. Euler said she felt the increase was both "justified and inevitable."

She blew in from the North

Since the Wind is just completing a most impressive visit to the valley, The Times, continuing its policy of keeping right on top of the news, brings you this exclusive interview with the brisk, blustery individual that has been howling on and off for the past few days.

THE TIMES: Wind, the valley has always been known for its friendly welcomes and we are sure many of our residents would like to know your first name.

WIND: Well, where I come from in the Pacific Northwest, they call the wind Moriah.

TIMES: I see. But you come from the northwest? Where are you headed?

WIND: I'm off to Las Vegas. The pressure got to be too much for me in Washington. It was up to 1,026 millibars. Now in Las Vegas it's only 992 millibars and I'm hurrying south to take advantage of the break.

TIMES: You've been moving right along apparently. You've been gusting up near 50 knots an hour in this area, according to some reports. Oh, and while we have you here, what exactly is a 'knot'?

WIND: A knot is short for nautical mile, which is slightly longer than the standard mile you use on land. There are 23 miles in 20 knots.

TIMES: Speaking of speed, many valley residents have wondered why it is that you seem to be in such a hurry to get through this area. Sometimes we get the impression you don't like us.

WIND: I feel that's a bad rap. On this trip through, I've done just minor damage. Sure, I've blown down a couple of fences here and there, but that's just because it's springtime and I'm feeling good. I'll admit sometimes I come through here in the late fall and come on a little strong but I've tried to be as pleasant as possible this time around.

TIMES: Some residents can't understand why you have to travel so fast through the valley.

WIND: It's not because I want to, let me assure you. You see, when I come down from the north I run into the Oakland hills. The air that is stopped by the hills has to force its way upward into the air passing over the hills. This adds velocity to the overall wind.

And then as the wind speed increases, the Bernoulli effect comes into play, which further increases the wind speed.

TIMES: What's the fastest you've ever traveled through the Bay Area?

WIND: Well, one time back in the '30's I came through at 68 miles per hour, but since they put the new speed limit in, I guess those days are past. The California Skyway Patrol is really on the alert lately.

TIMES: How long do you expect to stay in the valley?

WIND: Not too long. I'll probably stick around most of today and maybe a little tomorrow but my brother Pacific will probably be back by the end of the week.

TIMES: I'm sure you're aware the Memorial Day weekend is approaching?

WIND: Why do you think I'm going to Vegas?

TIMES: I should have known. But can you give us a hint as to what kind of weather we might expect?

WIND: The man to talk to is my brother Pacific Wind because he's around here a lot more than me. But I'd say it'll probably be clear through the weekend.

TIMES: What about the rest of the summer? You must have some outside information on that.

WIND: I'm sorry. The answer to that question is blown in the wind.

TIMES: I was waiting for that one. Well, thank you very much for your time. You haven't wasted your breath.

WIND: I hope not. Don't blow the story.

Drivers excel in roдео

Five Amador-Pleasanton School district bus drivers took part in the Northern California segment of the school bus drivers roдео held recently at the Hayward Airport. Lorna Clary, standing on the bus step, placed first amongst novice women drivers. Her score of 482 out of 500 topped all novice divisions in the state, men and women. Participants were required to take a written test, put their bus through an obstacle course and have the bus inspected. Also participating and achieving high scores were, from left, Pat Iseke, Erika Schell, Vada Rood and Ron Kirchgatter. Shirley Matteri, not pictured, also took part. (Times Photo)

Nursing homeowners need state finances

Valley nursing-home owners are among the many trying to get a piece of an extremely tight state budget for next year.

As Gov. Edmund Brown steadfastly tries to hold down spending, nursing-home owners are claiming their facilities are headed for disaster. They say they're getting less than $18 per patient per day for their public patients, while it costs them closer to $24 to care for them.

Part of the discrepancy is made up by private patients, who pay about $25 per day. part is made up through the time-honored practice of budget-cutting, which unfortunately means a crowded room or starchy food or less attention for Grandma and miserable wages for everyone who cares for her.

In the Valley, the four facilities categorized as "skilled care nursing homes" employ some 250 nurses, aides, housekeepers, laundry workers, and cooks.

Well over half of them make the minimum wage: $2 an hour.

That doesn't inspire many people to want a career in the nursing-home field. Sometimes a single position is refilled three times in one year, according to statistics put out by the nursing homes' own professional organization, the California Association of Health Facilities.

At best, the turnover rate is 100 per cent each year.

Once trained, most nursing-home employees, whether nurses or aides, can find better-paying jobs in an ordinary hospital or, highest of all, in a state hospital. For example, the average nursing aide—the one who helps Pop into the wheelchair, plumps up his pillow, and spends more time with him than anyone else—makes an insulting $2.09 an hour average. The same position pays $3.09 in a hospital, $3.55 in a state facility.

Even the laundry worker makes more than that: $2.56 an hour at a nursing home, $4 in a state hospital.

Bob Meyers, co-owner of the Pleasanton Convalescent Home, has taken a leading role in preparing the current push for more state and federal compensation.

Displaying a red- and yellow-chart he helped assemble, he pointed out: "Since 1966, we have had only three raises in the amount we get for Medi-Cal patients. It's always a game of catch-up."

The little red columns,

Marching upward one jump ahead of the little yellow columns, told the story. The red ones were labeled: "Loss sustained over Medi-Cal reimbursement."

Pleasanton Convalescent Home, which opened two years ago, has 129 patients. Other nursing homes in the Valley are Casa Linda on First Street, Livermore, with 20 patients; The Hacienda on Fenton with 83; and Livermore Manor, which recently re-opened with 37 beds.

Also being hard hit because of low Medi-Cal reimbursement are residential care homes, which are long-term or permanent homes for the elderly who don't need medical care.

Mrs. Eufemia Abaya is a San Francisco resident who owns two residential homes there as well as the 20-bed The Pines in Livermore. She says Medi-Cal allows $250 a month per patient, while she has to charge private residents $300 to $400 because of the actual cost of paying seven employees, providing nutritious food, and keeping the East Avenue building in good condition.

She raised the rates shortly after taking over The Pines this January.

A letter from the state nursing home association says: "We are requesting that the state reassess its priorities and increase its budget for nursing homes to meet the industry's requirements for Medi-Cal payment next year of $468.5 million, rather than the proposed $337.1 million."

"It should be pointed out that the state actually pays less than half that amount, inasmuch as the federal government provides matching funds and a small remaining percentage (15%) is assumed by patients from their Social Security payments."

Meyers of the Pleasanton Convalescent Home relates: "The Legislature doesn't want to give us more money because they figure it's going to go into the owners' pockets."

"But we've promised that if we get $23.56 a day, as we're asking for, we'll pay all our help at least $3 an hour."

"Besides, now that we've joined the California Hospital Commission, our records are public information. Anybody will be able to see that we're not making a bundle at this. Why, I made more working for the state university system as one of the top administrators at UC Davis!"

Meyers concedes some nursing homes are substandard, depressing places. But it's often lack of income that forces owners to cut corners, he says. "Lots of it can be solved by dollars."

The next 10 days are "crucial" in inducing lawmakers to be more generous to the nursing homes, Meyers predicts.

He is passing out a flyer to employees, families and friends of his institution. The flyer urges that a letter be sent to Assemblyman Floyd Mori of Pleasanton, state Sen. John Holmdahl, and Gov. Brown, expressing concern about the reimbursement situation.

City council appoints four

LIVERMORE — Linda Chapman was appointed to the Housing Authority, Larry Bakken to the Industrial Advisory Committee and Janice Bird and Diana Bolander to the Beautification Committee by the city council Monday night.

Two appointments to the city's Advisory Committee on Public Transportation also were announced. They are Joan Stark, representing low-income residents and Barbara Shaw, the representative of the League of Women Voters.

The mayor also awarded employee commendations to public works department personnel.

Those receiving awards were senior operator Dallas Smith who won "Operator of the Year" for 1974 from the San Francisco Bay Section of the California Water Pollution Control Association; Operator 11 Richard VanderBeek, Certificate of Completion for a correspondence course from Sacramento State University with a final grade of 95%; and Robert Anderson and Robert Geyer, Certifications of Competence for Grade 1 Operator from the State of California as of 1975.

Summer enrollment still open

The Livermore Valley Unified School District is still accepting applications for enrollment in the 1975 Summer School Program.

The Pre-Kindergarten - Third grade session runs from June 23 - July 25; Fourth - Seventh grade session runs from June 23 - 31; and the Eighth - Eleventh grade session runs from June 19 - August 1. July 4 is a holiday for all sessions.

Applications are still being accepted for pre-kindergartners who will be five by June 23, 1975.

Prusser plea decision due today

The Alameda County Zoning Administrator will rule on two valley items this afternoon at 1:30 in Hayward, the most controversial of which would allow another building site on a 77-acre agricultural-zoned plot in Livermore.

Gordon Prusser of Land Investors' Research, is requesting that he be granted a variance to allow him to split his 77-acre plot into two areas, one 72 acres and one 5 acres.

He then wants to be allowed to build on both plots in agriculturally-zoned land, the law states that homes can only be built on 100-acre lots unless the lots were building sites before 1972.

The land is located on Vasco Road, east of the intersection with Dalton.

James Mills of Livermore is asking for a conditional use permit for temporary occupancy of a mobile home for a caretaker for agricultural operations at 4224 Greenville Road. The land is zoned agricultural.

Gala launches Children's Hospital campaign

Pleasantonites (seated) Estelle Newcomb, Genevieve Zavanelli, Jean Payne, Claire Cortola and her sister Shirley Holman of Danville (standing) enjoyed the afternoon in support of the fund-raising campaign for Children's Hospital.

Busy hostess Louise Johnson of Livermore, secretary of the Children's Hospital Foundation, paused to greet friends Frances Burr of Sunol and Mary Alice Van doorn of Fremont.

Local friends of the hospital in attendance were Lynn Zodtner of Pleasanton, Thale Struthers, Hivena Comstock and Mulberry Branch President Helen Davies, all of Livermore.

The Livermore-Amador Valley was well-represented at one of the biggest and most significant social events of the year for Bay Area residents, the kick-off luncheon for the Children's Hospital Foundation fund-raising campaign.

Seven hundred friends of the hospital were in attendance at Goodman Hall in Oakland's Jack London Square as Foundation chairman Arthur Oppenheimer II outlined the plans to raise nearly $2 million to construct and equip one of the most modern intensive care centers for children and infants on the West Coast.

The Ethel Moore Intensive Care Center will be the first step in long range plans for the modernization and expansion of Children's Hospital in Oakland. Children's Hospital, a regional medical center which has accepted difficult pediatric cases from 25 Bay Area hospitals, is in critical need of capital to up-date equipment and provide more space.

The 3500 women of The Children's Hospital Branches, Inc., including the valley's Mulberry Branch, provide a substantial portion of the hospital's operating expenses. Because the hospital provides health care to children regardless of their ability to pay, including many Medical patients, a deficit approaching $1 million each year must be met with the revenue from the branches and private donations.

A surprise appearance at the luncheon was made by a dozen vibrant and healthy children whose lives have been saved at Children's, including eleven-year-old Robbie Hanson whose case made national headlines when he made a dramatic recovery from near-death after a savage beating while delivering newspapers.

Guest speaker, and highlight of the afternoon, was Abigail (Dear Abby) Van Buren who coaxed her audience to laughter and tears with the story of her twenty years as a nationally-syndicated Advice columnist.

County committee puts Stoneridge on B priority

Even while state and city officials insist that no interchange with Interstate 680 "has any priority whatsoever" in the listing of major highway projects, a Stoneridge Drive interchange has cropped up in a list of items to be recommended by the Alameda County Transportation Advisory Committee.

Grouped under "Category B - projects for survey, design and right of way acquisition," — the Stoneridge Drive interchange with I-680 is the only such item in that category. Recommendation by a county advisory committee is seen as a first, essential step to getting any state action on a highway matter, although there is never any guarantee that the state California Highway Commission will act on those local recommendations.

(Regardless of what is recommended to the Highway Commission, state authorities have been insisting there are no funds available for any "new" freeway projects, including "interchanges not previously placed on the priority list." Interchanges at Stoneridge Drive and W. Las Positas were "given no priority," according to previous advice.)

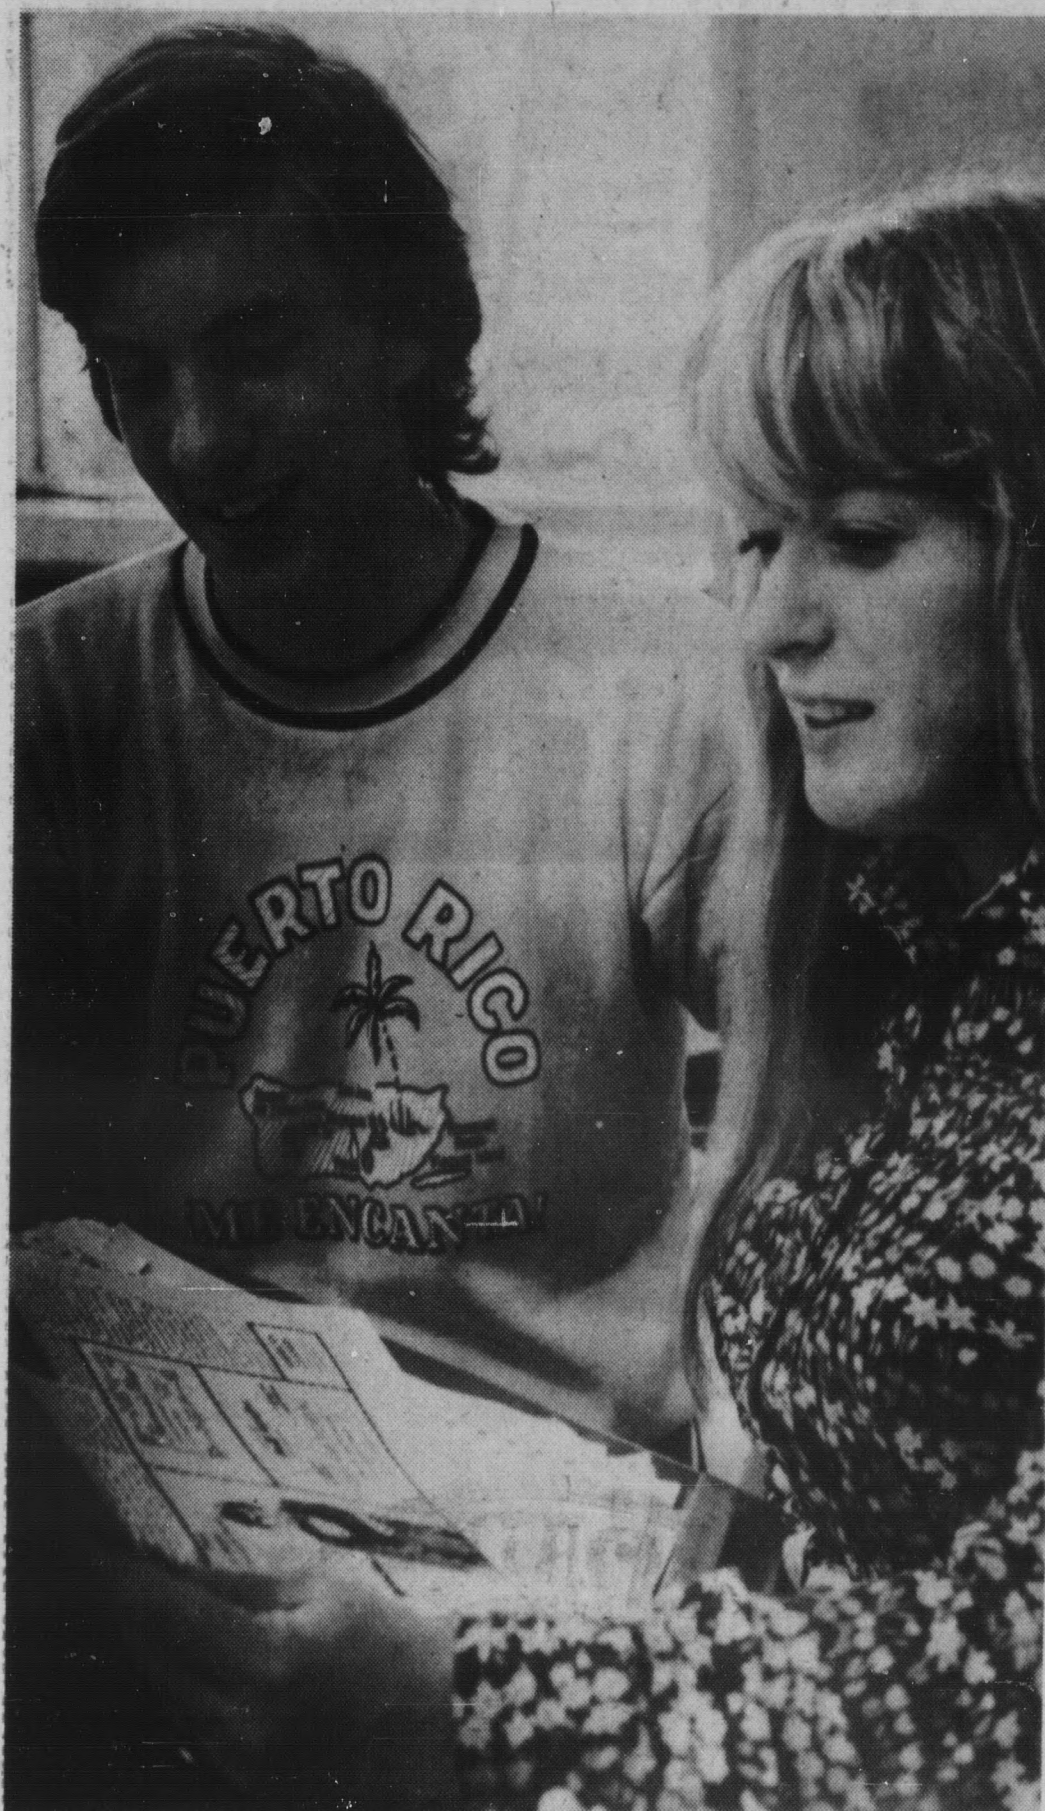

Development of Interstate 580 through Dublin Canyon to full freeway standards is still the county's top priority project for immediate action, according to this latest list of recommendations. Rated right behind that item is the addition of truck lanes along Interstate 680 from Mission Boulevard to Andrade Road near Sunol.

The recommendations offered by the Engineers Subcommittee will be reviewed by the full County Advisory Committee on May 30 at Hayward City Hall.

Gaels, Dons win

Second place Dublin High closed out the EBAL girls' softball season at home yesterday with a thrilling, 8-4 victory over San Ramon.

The Gaels finished four games behind pennant winner Amador Valley.

Dublin pushed over three runs in the sixth inning, and four more in the seventh to overcome an early 4-1 San Ramon lead.

Alicia Crumpler saved it for the Gaels in the seventh inning with a leaping catch of a line drive at second base. While still sprawled on the ground, she tagged second base for a double play, wiping out a potential San Ramon rally. The Wolves had runners at first and second with no out.

Gail Willard, the winning pitcher, socked a leadoff home run in Dublin's seventh-inning rally. Darlene Gray and Kit Vines were instrumental in the Gaels' offense.

The champion Dons closed out the schedule with a 23-10 romp over Granada.

Carmen Macon led the charge with 4-for-4, including two home runs and nine RBI's. Debbie Oxsen and Jamie Watson had three hits each.

For Granada, Mary Bosque drove in two runs with a pair of singles. Paula Strong and Cheryl Wood had two hits apiece.

Spare the budget for a year — EBAL

The EBAL wants a full complement of sports programs next fall despite the fact member schools are in a financial bind.

Its board of governors went on record saying as much yesterday morning.

But at the same time, it began composing a "shopping list" of potential athletic budget cuts.

Responding to year-long worries over finance, EBAL principals and athletic directors met for two hours yesterday at the Amador School District offices.

They convened at the behest of school superintendents to ponder methods of paring high school sports budgets. The result was a grab-bag of possibilities, which will be dispatched to all eight member schools. The suggestions ranged from elimination of any or all interscholastic sports, to hikes in ticket prices.

EBAL schools will have until next fall to "prioritize," the conglomeration of budget-cutting proposals, and return them to the board.

They will be considered again next October.

Before the board pressed on with its distasteful work, however, it passed a resolution that may or may not boost confidence among the boosters of high school sport.

The principals voted unanimously to push for a "status quo," posture in the EBAL next year. They want the existing sports programs maintained at current levels through June, 1976.

The resolution was adopted, in part, to meet commitments with other schools. Schedules have already been finalized for the upcoming season, and athletic cuts right now would force the EBAL to back out on some contests it has agreed to compete in.

Of course the "status quo" vote only reflects the feeling of the EBAL board. It doesn't come to grips with a school district's ability to finance sports in the upcoming school year.

But most of the administrators present yesterday indicated that their institutions could muddle through another nine months with the current range of sports activities.

"San Ramon is already figuring to maintain the status quo," said principal Jim Cozzens.

"We can meet our commitments next year," said Amador Valley principal Ralph Laird.

To a man, the board was reluctant to whittle away at the EBAL's wide sports scope.

"I hate to be God and say that we will eliminate these things," said Livermore's Paul Reginato. "I'm hesitant to take that kind of action. I'd much rather limit the competition than cut out the sports."

"We're not for eliminating anything," added Cozzens.

"Any cutback is going to bring a real response," said Don Landers of Foothill; "because the three communities are so athletically inclined."

A special EBAL committee began drafting budget saving measures months ago. They included the elimination of team buses and towels in locker rooms, and all freshman sports except football.

There was also a recommendation to abandon interscholastic sports in favor of intramural sports.

Those suggestions were included in yesterday's "shopping list." The list will ask EBAL schools to select which, if any sports should be eliminated in the interest of savings.

Other alternatives include the concept of travel squads, the elimination of post and pre-season tournaments, reduction in coaching staffs, merger of girls and boys teams, reduction of game officials, and a geographic permit for scheduling non-league contests.

A call went out for a united front among EBAL schools if the financial crisis forces implementation of the cutbacks. Though the EBAL spans three school districts, the board will push for uniform cuts if they are deemed necessary.

Beyond district budgets, principals expressed concern that student body budgets are being battered also. If programs are curtailed, relief will also be sought for the student bodies. Most schools fund their sports equipment from that source.

Fr tone of the meeting, some of the cuts suggested may become fact in future seasons, perhaps next year. Slashes of up to 20 per cent are being projected for some district budgets. Athletics must bear part of the burden.

It is an ominous prospect for EBAL people.

"Athletics is the last arena for discipline in the schools outside of some classrooms," Monte Vista athletic director Gary Yates said. "If you take the fun out of coaching by making it a constant hassle for funds, you might find it hard to get people to coach."

"You can't find another place in the program where the cost per student per hour is so cheap," claimed Livermore's Tom Davis.

Davis compiled statistics that indicated Livermore spends at tops, 62 cents per student hour for its athletic programs. Football costs the school 50 cents per student hour, he claimed.

"This isn't even taking into account all of the spectators and cheer leaders and other people and the enjoyment they get from high school sports," Davis said.

DO YOU ENJOY scatter-gun shooting? Then come out to the Livermore-Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club from May 22 through 26. The club is having the California State Trap Shooting Association's "State Championship Shoot."

The 22nd is a sort of get-together of all the state directors, laying out the ground rules and arranging the coordination of the program. The real competition starts the morning of the 23rd.

There will be trophies and cash prizes for winning entries. If one thinks he or she has a chance, it might be interesting to try a combination of options by entering several categories.

There will be entertainment and a barbecue each evening on 23-26. Bring your favorite shotgun, and your ear-plugs. The two practice traps will be open, so if you have a new gun you can try it out before getting into competition.

Our own Manuel Mingoia is president of the California State Trapshooting Association, and he promises an excellent program, interesting and fun.

AL HAHN SAYS the best place as of now is the Santa Clara Shoals for catching those big, elusive stripers. Al suggests you go to the east end and drift down, trolling as you go. He thinks stripers will also be up around Venice Island in a few days; he says the migration is slow this year because of cold water conditions until the last few days. He's an expert, so it might be well to take his advice!

DEER HUNTERS WILL have to choose this year between hunting only in northeastern California and only in the balance of the state.

The plan for a separate deer tag, suggested by the Organized Sportsmen of Modoc County and endorsed by the Department of Fish and Game, is designed to reduce pressure in the old District 14 in the northeast where the ratio of bucks to does has dropped in some herds to three per 100.

Under the plan, there will be a special tag that will be good only in the area bounded by Oregon on the north, Nevada on the east, Highways 97 and 89 on the west and Highways 44 and 36 on the south.

Persons buying the northeastern California tag will have to forego the general tag, good for one buck in any other open area, and the option tag, which can be used in the two-buck area.

Holders of the special deer tag will be able to file for antlerless or either-sex deer hunts and participate if drawn, however.

Commissioners announced they intend to adopt hunting and trapping regulations that would:

—Require hunters and trappers to kill furbearers and nongame animals immediately or obtain a permit to retain them alive.

—Prohibit the taking of these animals with the aid of dogs in an area west of Fresno during February, March, and April.

—Expand the night hunting closure north of State Highway 46 to State Highway 198 between Interstate 5 and State Highway 99.

—Return to the old seven-month season for brush, cottontail and pigmy rabbits and varying hare in southeastern California where a five-month season has been in effect for two years.

The 1975-76 regulations for mammals and furbearers will be adopted May 30 in Sacramento, and will take effect July 1.

In other actions, the DFG Commission:

—Authorized the DFG to accept as a gift from the Sutter Basin Corp. about 1300 acres of riparian habitat in Sutter County adjacent to 180 acres now in state ownership.

—Approved a department request to turn back to the federal government the 535-acre Hazard-Fleet unit of the Imperial Wildlife Area in Imperial County. The arrangement would provide for more efficient use of the property and relieve the state of costs of operation.

Cal soph pulls out of girls track

Michelle Fabian of California High School has pulled out of the North Coast Girls Track Championships Thursday at Camp Campolindo, ending speculation she would strike a challenge against a California Interscholastic Federation eligibility rule.

The sophomore runner was scheduled to compete in the 100-yard dash and the 880, after winning both races at the EBAL finals a week ago.

But according to clauses in the CIF constitution, she is not eligible to compete in high school events the remainder of the season.

Michelle and her parents realized this prior to the EBAL meet, and had planned to challenge the CIF rule. Yesterday, however, her mother, Trudy Fabian, said the young girl would not run.

"We don't think she should run with that kind of pressure," Mrs. Fabian said.

The issue involves the CIF and its relationship with the Amateur Athletic Union. High school athletes are not allowed to compete for AAU or any other outside sports organization during the CIF sport season.

Prior to the EBAL girls finals, Michelle had run for the Orinda Track Club as a member of the mile relay team. When she competed for that non-CIF affiliated group, she forfeited CIF eligibility.

The Fabians, parents of nine daughters, planned to challenge her status.

"We don't think the situation is fair to young people," Mrs. Fabian said. "The time has come for young people to have valid means to run for a school and participate in outside interests as well."

Rumors circulated yesterday that Jack Fabian, Michelle's father, would appeal the eligibility clause to the CIF governing board, then perhaps, take the issue to court.

Both parents ruled out that possibility, however.

"We're not trying to be alarmists," said Michelle's mother. "We would really like to sit down sensibly and bring our views out. The time has come to say this is a good rule in some respects, but unfair in others."

Michelle ran for California High on two occasions this track season. Her victories in the 100 and 880 were surprising since she is concentrating on the mile relay with the Orinda team. Her relay unit is aiming for a berth in the AAU championships next month in New York.

Since that is her primary goal, Mrs. Fabian said, Michelle was not disappointed about dropping out of Thursday's North Coast meet. The decision was reached between the young girl and her parents.

"She still has her goals, and she's not stopped running," Mrs. Fabian said.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 Don't assume today that what is good for you will also benefit your associates. Their interests and yours will be miles apart.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 You won't treat responsible matters with the respect they deserve today. A problem that could have been solved will stay with you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 You tend to be extravagant today. Guard against foolishly squandering a part of your budget earmarked for necessities.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Don't expect more from family members than they're capable of. Remember, children aren't equipped to reason or perform like adults.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 You'll be needlessly fearful today that you won't get the credit you deserve. Tooting your own horn too loudly may offend some.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 Procrastination in attacking an old problem will only magnify its effect in the future. Be wise. Work it out now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 You have a choice today: Decide your course of action or others will do it for you—not to your best advantage.

Your Birthday

May 21, 1975

You will develop opportunity for yourself this year through your creativity and effort. What you accomplish will be valuable in the work you're engaged in.

Today's hand is of little interest to rubber bridge players since South's four spade contract is ironclad. In fact five is laydown after the diamond lead while any other opening makes six a cinch.

South was hit with the diamond lead, but with help from expert opponents managed to make six anyway.

He took the first diamond, cashed his queen of trumps, led the deuce of hearts and called for dummy's king after West followed with the five.

East ducked quickly. He assumed that West would have echoed with an even number of hearts and therefore held three. In that case the duck couldn't

Fremont man after Zone 7 reversal

Directors of Zone 7 of the county flood control and water conservation district will hear the appeal of a Fremont man who wants to pay 1974 water-connection fees for a proposed home in Sunol at tonight's 8 p.m. meeting in the Livermore Municipal Courtroom.

Walter Fries, Fremont, objects to the board's 1975 charges because he applied for a building permit in 1974. The permit, however, was issued in February, 1975.

Fries has also told the board of his intention to install a three-eighths-inch water meter. The City of Pleasanton uses a modified five-eighths inch meter for which Zone 7 charges them the three-quarters-inch meter connection fee. The minimum meter size used throughout the Valley is five-eighths-inch, unmodified.

Directors also will hear the financial report for April, in addition to reports from the Zone 7—Army Corps of Engineers Liaison Committee and the Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) Steering Committee.

Other items on the agenda include a status report on the Kaiser Reclamation Proposal, a contract with Arthur Young and Company for audit services on the state water contract, the advance deposit for design review and construction supervision of the metering installation at the Del Valle plant, and the status of the Kennedy Engineers' agreement for construction supervision at the Del Valle plant.

Garbage site set for homes

PLEASANTON - Another move in the program to phase out the Vineyard Avenue garbage disposal site comes up June 5 when the Alameda County Board of Supervisors hold a public hearing on a request to rezone 22 acres of that property to single family residences. Each parcel would have a minimum of five acres.

Pleasanton Garbage Company has city approval to develop a transfer station in the Kaiser industrial area, east of Santa Rita Road. Neighborhood opposition to truck and vehicular access into that transfer station has apparently been resolved.

Robert Molinaro, president of Pleasanton Garbage Company, had previously announced plans to convert some of his Vineyard Avenue property to rural-residential uses.

Vietnam refugees need aid

Valley residents who wish to get more information about sponsoring a Vietnam refugee may do so by calling the International Institute of San Francisco's East Bay number, 451-2846.

Director Audrey Doughty said that while numerous private and governmental agencies are making an effort to place refugees, it is not clear what the refugees' futures will be.

She said there is no assurance from the government agencies that funds will be made available.

The Institute's number in San Francisco is 673-1720.

State News Vote bill splits upper house unit

STEVE LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians could register to vote up until the day before an election under a bill sent to the senate floor on a close partisan vote.

Sen. George Moscone's measure cleared the Senate Finance Committee on a 7-5 vote Monday despite claims that it would make it easier to commit election fraud and add to the Democrats' registration edge.

"I think it's a definite disadvantage to my party," Sen. Lou Cusanovich, R-Van Nuys, said after the hearing.

Moscone, a San Francisco Democrat and Senate Democratic floor leader, argued that bill would reach those residents disenfranchised by missed deadlines.

At least seven votes were needed to get the bill out of committee. The aye votes were cast by Democrats. The committee's five Republicans voted no.

Democrats now outnumber Republicans in registration in California, 56 per cent to 38 per cent.

John Jervis, a Moscone aide, said the bill is "really not a partisan thing at all. It's just designed to help people get registered. 'Republicans are just as entitled as Democrats to take advantage of it.'"

Under present law an adult must register within 30 days of an election to be eligible to vote. Moscone's proposal would allow until the day before the election.

But persons registering with the 30-day period would be placed in a special category. Their votes would be counted only after proper residency had been verified.

Moscone said the bill would benefit "enormous numbers of people who for one reason or another do not become concerned about the election until the time for registration has passed."

"Our trend in this country has been to make it more inviting rather than less inviting to vote," he added. "This bill looks at that question in a way that I think is most responsible."

Gym requirement now up to school districts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Physical education courses could be optional for 11th and 12th graders under legislation signed into law by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

The bill by Sen. Arlen Gregorio would let school districts decide whether to make PE classes mandatory for those grades.

Those districts making the course optional would have to provide a variety of PE electives.

Gregorio said Monday the bill would "further the real goal of physical education: to equip students with the skills and desire... to remain physically fit for the rest of their lives."

"Many PE teachers, under no effective pressure to make PE interesting, tend to emphasize competitive athletics and other activities of interest to only a highly skilled minority of students," Gregorio added.

The atmosphere of many PE classes is one of coercion and drudgery for the large number of students."

AMERICA AT PEACE

Memorial Day 1975

By DON OAKLEY

Memorial Day has always been a bittersweet holiday in America. But it is especially sad when the occasion for special remembrance of those who have fallen in the nation's wars becomes a matter of what is convenient — or profitable — for the commercial community.

Persuaded by those who said that it made more sense to have a three-day weekend every year rather than have a holiday fall in the middle of the week, as it sometimes did, Congress several years ago changed Memorial Day from May 30 to the last Monday in the month. It also moved Veterans or Armistice Day from Nov. 11 to the last Monday in October for the same reason, as well as to put more distance between it and Thanksgiving.

Not all of the states fell in line with the change; a few have continued to observe the traditional dates. Some Southern states have always observed Confederate Memorial Day on different days in April and May.

If a lobbying campaign being conducted chiefly by former servicemen is successful, Veterans Day will once again be redesignated as Nov. 11. The U.S. Senate has already so acted. Other bills have been introduced in Congress to move Memorial Day back to its original spot on the calendar.

Opposing this is another lobby, made up of numerous corporations, trade associations involved in the travel business and unions, which argues that three-day holiday weekends promote spending by the public, profits for industry, jobs for people and better worker efficiency.

In the midst of it all, we seem to have forgotten what a day like Memorial Day is supposed to be about.

Perhaps Americans no longer want to be reminded of the sacrifices of their wartime dead, especially this year when the loss of more than 56,000 of them in Vietnam is so fresh in mind and seems to have been so unnecessary and so useless.

We happen not to believe it. We believe that certain things are more important to Americans than the recreational or money-making opportunities afforded by a three-day weekend and that if they were asked, the majority of them would vote to put the holiday back where it was for more than a century.

As it is now, Memorial Day is just another Monday, different only because most of us don't have to get up to go to work.

New from Philip Morris.

Saratoga 120's.

Enjoy smoking longer without smoking more.

That's the Saratoga idea.

More puffs than 100's.

Tailored longer and slimmer than 100's, so you enjoy extra smoking time, extra smoking pleasure, without smoking more cigarettes.

Priced no more than 100's.

And Saratoga 120's are rich, full-flavor cigarettes made from a fine blend of tobaccos.

More than just a new brand.

Saratoga 120's are a whole new idea in smoking pleasure.

Because now you can enjoy smoking longer without smoking more.

Look for them in the new 120 mm crush-proof box.

Menthol and Regular.

Standard 100's

Saratoga 120's
